2 ☐ Asian Philosophies

- No one is ever born, and no one ever dies.
- No one persists through time as the same person.
- Sometimes a child is not a child and a ruler is not a ruler.
- There is something that neither is nor is not.
- Everything is part of everything else – e.g., the universe is part of your fingertip.

6 ☐ Disclaimer

- These slides are not a substitute for note-taking.
- The slides are an alternative to chalkboard writing.
- The slides do not contain all (or even most) of the material for which you are responsible.

7 ☐ How to Use Study Questions

- Study Questions provide guidance about what material is important.
- Detailed answers are better than short ones.
  - EX) What did the Aryans introduce to the Dravidians?
  - Poor Answer: War technology; sanskrit; caste system.
  - Better answer: some details about the war technology and its significance; an explanation of what sanskrit is and its role in Aryan culture; information about what some of the castes are and how the system was structured
